DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is in response to applicant's amendment filed May 18, 2007. Claims 1-17, 19 22-24, and 26 have been amended. Claims 13-17 and 25-27 have been withdrawn. Claims 1-12 and 18-24 are currently presented for examination.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 13-17 and 25-27 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on May 18, 2007.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 and 18-24, as amended, have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-12 and 18-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Robertson et al (US6,594,799).

5. Regarding claim 1 –

Robertson discloses a network-based design service system (e.g. fig.1), comprising:

Art Unit: 3621

a design database server on which a design database, containing information on sample circuits, that is stored (e.g. col 6 ln 20-35);

a designer terminal, connected to the design database server via a network, the designer terminal comprising inputting means with which a designer can search the design database and design a device (e.g. col 7 ln 58-64).

6. Robertson does not specifically disclose an account terminal that transfers a payment for utilizing the design database from a bank account of the designer. Note however, that Robertson does disclose wherein invoicing and debiting may be done on paper or electronically and wherein the supplier may maintain an account at the portal or design site. (col 14 ln 28-48). It would be obvious, in view of the presence of the Internet in both Robertson and the instant application to have a connection to a bank account for invoicing and debiting funds.

7. Regarding claim 2 –

Robertson discloses a network-based design service system wherein the designer terminal is connected to the design database server via the world wide web and the designer accesses the design database server via a website. (e.g. col 4 ln 64-col 5 ln 19).

8. Regarding the limitation of claim 3 –

As above, Robertson does not specifically disclose a network-based design service system wherein said account terminal further transfers an employment fee from a bank account of a parts vendor to the bank account of the designer upon employment of a part by the said-designer. Robertson does not specifically disclose an account terminal that transfers a payment for utilizing the design database from a bank account of the designer. Note however, that Robertson does disclose wherein invoicing and debiting may be done on paper or electronically and wherein the supplier may maintain an account at the portal or design site. (col 14 ln 28-48). It would be obvious, in view of the presence of the Internet in both Robertson and the instant application to have a connection to a bank account for invoicing and debiting funds, including employment fees.

9. Regarding the limitation of claim 4 –

Robertson does not specifically disclose a network-based design service system comprising: means for notifying at least one other designer terminal if problem is found in a sample circuit during the design process for the device. Robertson does, however, disclose wherein automated user notifications in the event of updates (col 20 ln 57-65), as well as the use in expert help in the design process in several formats (e.g. col 27 ln 23-48). It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to thus modify Robertson to include the notifications contemplated in the instant claim 4.

10. Regarding claim 5 –

Robertson discloses a network-based design service system further comprising: means for the designer to conducting a price simulation for meeting a target price of the device and means for conducting a noise simulation for achieving a required noise proof performance. (e.g. col 6 ln 37-48).

11. Regarding claim 6 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claims 4 and 5.

12. Regarding claim 7 –

Robertson disclose as discussed above under claim 1.

13. Regarding claim 8 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 2.

14. Regarding claim 9 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 3.

15. Regarding claim 10 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 4.

16. Regarding claim 11 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 5.

17. Regarding claim 12 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 6.

18. Regarding the limitation of claim 18 –

Robertson does not specifically disclose a network-based design service system wherein the design database further comprises information on an anti-noise circuit.

Robertson does, however, disclose generally, providing information on various circuits for purposes of design (e.g. abstract). Thus, it would be obvious tone of ordinary skill in the art to provide information on antinoise circuits while providing all other information in the interest of a more complete service.

19. Regarding claim 19 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 18 .

20. Regarding claim 20 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 18.

21. Regarding claim 21 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 1.

22. Regarding claim 22 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 18.

23. Regarding claim 23 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 18.

24. Regarding claim 24 –

Robertson discloses as discussed above under claim 1.
